Footnotes: 1/ Universe is number of counties in state or U.S. with items. 2/ Beginning with 1997, data includes an adjustment for undercoverage. 3/Due to changes in definition and wording of questions, figures for “cropland pasture” and “other pasture” are not always comparable from the Census. Acreage beginning with 1964 refer to pastureland and rangeland, other than cropland and woodland pastured, on farms with sales of agricultural products of $2,500 and over. 4/ Beginning with 1974, agricultural operations under individual management with annual sales of $1,000 or more. 5/ Data were collected for a maximum of three operators per farm. NA Not Available. (D) Cannot be disclosed. (Z) Less than ½ of the unit shown. See “Census of Agriculture, Vol. 1, Geographic Series” for complete footnotes.

Revised 2004

WASHINGTON COUNTY

2002 U.S. Census of Agriculture

Washington County is located in the southwestern part of the Great Valley of Virginia and borders Tennessee on the south. Formed in 1777 from part of Fincastle, the county was named in honor of George Washington. Interestingly, Virginia is one of 31 states with counties honoring Washington.

The topography of the county consists of a broad valley about 15 miles wide that is bordered on either side by comparatively high mountains. Elevations in the valley range from 1,300 to 2,800 feet above sea level, while the neighboring mountains reach a height of over 5,500 feet on White Top. Temperatures in the valley average 37 degrees in January and 73 in July. The frost-free growing season is roughly 165 days, usually extending from 29 to October 11. Annual precipitation averages 45 inches.
